THE RAILROAD BILL PASSED BY CONGRESS IS VERY IMPORTANT

Anti-Strike Clause Omitted, Yet Labor is Not Satisfied with the Law.

Washington, Feb. 23.—The railroad bill in the opinion of its framers is the first big constructive after-war legislation that has passed Congress. The return of the railroads at 12:01 a. m. March 1 will mark restoration of the most important of private machinery taken over and operated by the Government as a war necessity.

The bill provides a labor tribunal of nine to settle labor disputes, but it is not given any power to enforce its decisions. In effect the plan of adjusting labor and wage disputes does not differ materially from the system now in operation. Labor leaders opposed the anti-strike provisions and succeeded in eliminating it with support of the House conference.

Labor Wants U. S. Ownership.

After having won this battle labor leaders, with a leaning toward the Plumb plan and Government ownership, sought to defeat the bill with the hope of forcing a condition favorable to adoption of one or the other plan.

Another section provides that the fares, rates, classifications, regulations or practices, in effect February 22, 1920, shall not be changed prior to September 1, 1920, and after that these matters come under regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Profits Fixed Six Months.

All carriers are guaranteed some compensation the Government has paid them for a period of six months after termination of Government control. The same conditions that have existed as to expenditures during Government operation shall continue during the next six months. The bill provides that the railroads must render accounts in the same form as has been required by the Interstate Commerce Commission during Government operation.

The bill creates a revolving fund of $300,000,000 for the making of new loans to railroads and provides that these loans can be obtained only upon authorization of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Conservation of Oil Urged on United States

Washington, February 20.—Conservation of the American supply of crude oil and extension of American enterprise to gain command of the world's supply is absolutely necessary for the protection of the commerce and industry of the nation, in the opinion of Dr. Van H. Manning, Chief of the Bureau of Mines.

Dr. Manning is preparing for submission to Congress a program for Government co-operation with the oil industry designed to increase efficiency and decrease cost. He is of opinion that a million dollars a year should be expended in this work to increase oil reserves.

Dr. Manning points out that Great Britain and Holland are making efforts to obtain control of the world's reserve, while the United States, which is now consuming more crude oil than it produces, has in the past done nothing in this direction because of over-production and apparent abundance.

Big Sandy Conductor Dies of Appendicitis

Thomas Jefferson Kentner, of Ashland, passed away in the C. & O. hospital in Huntington, his death resulting from appendicitis, for which he underwent an operation at the hospital one week before.

Mr. Kentner was conductor on the Big Sandy division of the C. & O. railroad, and one of the finest men in the service of that company. He had been in the employ of the C. & O. as brakeman an conductor for more than seventeen years, entering the service Sept. 23, 1893.

He was born in Carter county, and was forty-six years of age. Nineteen years ago he was married to Miss Minnie Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richardson, of Ashland, who survives him, with their son, and only child, Thomas Richardson Kentner. Mr. Kentner leaves one brother, Charles Kentner, of Hitchensburg, and one sister, Mrs. Howard Hatchett, of Huntington.

Former employees speak of Mr. Kentner in the highest terms, not only as regards his adherence to duty, but of his clear high type of manhood, his devotion to his family and home, and his uniform courtesy and consideration in his dealings with all mankind.

Burial took place Sunday.

MRS. J. W. YATES CALLED TO REST

Mrs. J. W. Yates died at her home in Louisa Saturday night about twelve o'clock as the result of a fall on Friday night. Being in her 80th year she was not strong enough to recover from the severe injury to her back which was inflicted by falling on the floor of her room. She remained conscious almost to the last moment, and talked calmly of death to the members of the family who were at her bedside, doing everything possible for her comfort. Her passing was typical of the devout Christian for whom the future holds no doubts or fears. She had lived the life that brings this satisfactory condition to the closing hour.

Mrs. Yates had long been a member of the Baptist church. During her last illness she had given directions about her funeral and burial and these were carried out as far as possible. She selected the songs and a psalm, and these were used.

The funeral was held on Tuesday at one o'clock at the Baptist church, Rev. J. T. Pope, the pastor, conducted the services, assisted by Rev. J. D. Bell of the M. E. Church South. The choir was made up of members from those two churches.

The songs were Nearer My God to Thee, Asleep in Jesus, Home Sweet Home, and In the Sweet Bye and Bye.

After prayer by Rev. Bell, a very appropriate and touching sermon was preached by Rev. Pope. The church was filled with sorrowing friends, notwithstanding the fact that the weather was about as inclement as possible.

Immediately after the conclusion of the service the body was taken to the Fulkerson cemetery on Pine Hill and thence laid to rest by the side of her daughter, Mrs. Lena Meyers, who passed away several years ago. The pall bearers were Robt. Dixon, F. T. D. Wallace, Sr., Dr. A. W. Bromley, Capt. F. F. Freese, John H. Frazier and M. F. Conley.

The surviving members of the family are the husband, age 88, the only son F. H. Yates, and daughters, Mrs. Maggie Riffe, Mrs. Mary Mason, Mrs. Elizabeth Eldridge, Mrs. Nellie Reynolds and Mrs. Little Muncaster.

Mrs. Julia Franklin Yates was born at Paintsville March 28, 1840. She was a daughter of James Franklin, who was once prominent in business affairs at Paintsville. Her mother died when she was 12 years old. She taught school in Floyd county and also here. On December 24, 1867, she was married to J. W. Yates and they have lived here ever since, honored and respected by everybody.

Mrs. Yates possessed a cheerful disposition and enjoyed above everything the companionship of family, friends and neighbors. She was a good conversationalist and had decided literary tastes and talents. This paper has published several poems composed by her.

On her 76th birthday Mrs. Yates prepared a dinner especially for the ministers of the town and enjoyed the occasion very greatly.

We feel that this notice of the passing of this good woman can not be closed in a better way than with verses composed by her only a short time ago:

Hope.

Hope guides us down life's rugged stream.

This life at best is but a dream From which we'll wake when called above,

Where all is joy and peace and love.

The Christian hopes to live in heaven: The sinner hopes to be forgiven: All hope for peace and joy—not strife, Hope on, hope ever, such is life.

Hope, sweet hope, that blessed boon Which Christ to man has given. That if we put our trust in Him, We'll be prepared for a home in heaven.

JUDGE WATSON'S WIFE DEAD.

News was received in Louisa Thursday of the death of Mrs. W. L. Watson which occurred at her home in Ashland Thursday morning after a few weeks illness. She was a native of the Webbville section of our county.

What German Competition Will do to the Wage Earners of America

British manufacturers are going out of the piano business because they can not compete, even in their own home markets, with the German seller. Closing down his plant last week and throwing 300 workers out of employment, the head of the Brismead firm explained why. The British piano makers are not delivering a square day's work for a square day's pay. It takes twice as much labor to turn out a Brismead piano to-day as it took two years ago. It takes four times as much as it took before the war. While Germany was shut out of the English market the British workers in the piano industry could get away with their present habit of drawing wages without earning them; but now when the German piano sells in London for less than the mere wages going into the British piano, the English manufacturers put up the shutters and the men and women who were employed in the plant get no more pay envelopes.

Here in the United States there are thousands of wage-earners whose jobs would go the way the jobs of the Brismead piano makers went if the products of German or other wage-earners who work for their pay were coming freely to our ports. Once Europe gets supplies of raw materials such products turned out by men who work for all they are worth, will not merely be put on sale here. They will flood our markets. Against such competition the American employee, not giving a fair return for his wage, and the American employer not receiving a fair return for his payroll, will not have a ghost of a chance to stay in the field.

The hunger which sharpens a man's appetite sharpens his tools with which to gain what will satisfy that hunger. The necessity which drives a man in want to hunt high and low for a place where he can scratch out a living will nerve him to a dogged fight to hang on to it once he has taken it from the man who did not jealousy guard it and stubbornly hold it.

The American wage-earner, in the softest berth on the face of the globe, is going to lose it to the needy toiler of the Old World unless he gets on the job and stays on it while it is still his to make secure by the old American industry, energy and ambition.—New York Sun.

Public Service Commission Should Be Created

A determined fight is being led by Eastern Kentucky people for the creation of a Public Service Commission by the Kentucky Legislature.

Hon. R. C. McClure, of Louisa, is in Frankfort devoting his time to it. Alton, Boyd county has a delegation there. Several other counties are giving this important matter their attention.

The bill proposes to regulate all public service companies and corporations.

This is being done in nearly all states and must sooner or later be adopted everywhere. It is fair to the people and also to the companies. Abuses are prevented and the rights of both sides protected.

WALTER S. HARKINS DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Judge Walter Scott Harkins of Prestonsburg, died Tuesday evening at his home in Prestonsburg from acute pneumonia. The disease attacked him about 12 hours previous to his death.

Mr. Harkins suffered a stroke of paralysis a few weeks ago, but had recovered sufficiently to attend to business.

The funeral will take place on Friday.

Judge Harkins was one of the most prominent men in Eastern Kentucky. As a lawyer he ranked among the best in the State. Many years ago he saw the possibilities of Eastern Kentucky's hidden resources and his investments in coal and oil lands brought him considerable wealth. His residence is one of the finest in Eastern Kentucky and his office building is said to be the best exclusive law office in the State.

Judge Harkins organized the first bank established at Prestonsburg and was president of it through all the years. He was a leader in all enterprises tending to build up his town and community, and a great deal of the progress made by Prestonsburg and Floyd-co. is due to his energy and public spirit.

Judge Harkins was a leading member of the M. E. Church South. A handsome new church building was completed only a few months ago to which Judge Harkins had contributed much time and means, and in which he exhibited great pride.

His age was 62 years. He is survived by the wife, two sons and two daughters—Jos. D., Walter Scott, Jr., Mrs. G. C. Howard and Miss Josephine.

Mrs. Harkins was daughter of Joe Davidson, a very prominent citizen of Prestonsburg.

Judge Harkins was a most kindly man, generous and charitable. His death is mourned by a very wide circle of friends.

He was removed to a hospital near Wayland, where he died yesterday.

Mr. Harkins is well and favorably known in that section.

Three In One Family Die of Influenza

SCARCITY OF OIL FORCES STANDARD TO RETAIN SUPPLIES

Independent Refineries Will Get No Share of its Purchases After March 16.

Pittsburg, February 26.—The market for Pennsylvania crude oil was thrown wide open here today by the announcement of the Joseph Seep purchasing agency that, beginning March 16, it would no longer sell oil to independent refineries. The reason given was that it did not have enough oil for its own business.

Increased consumption of Pennsylvania crude, during the past few years, has steadily forced up the price until it is quoted by the Seep agency at $5.65 a barrel, three advances having been made since the beginning of the year.

Independent refiners have been provided with a given proportion of their requirements by the Seep agency but some time ago, when they found the Seep agency could not fill their demands, they went out into the market and bought oil at premium in competition with the agency. That premium, it was stated today, has often reached 50 cents a barrel, and even now, with the latest advance, is more than 25 cents.

So scarce is oil of all kinds that scouts have been sent into the different fields in the hope of picking up oil in sufficient quantities to keep the independent refineries going. One refinery, it was stated, was trying to "buy oil by the trainload," while others, not so firmly entrenched financially, were endeavoring to get it in similar quantities.

The action of the Seep agency, it was said by veteran oil men, would return the market to the condition which prevailed years ago when there was no powerful buying agency thru which prices were stabilized. No one would predict to what heights quotations would go, but refiners without their own crude production, it was stated, would be compelled to get oil wherever they could and pay such prices as producers saw fit to demand.

REINSTATEMENT OF WAR RISK INSURANCE

To relieve any confusion that may exist in the minds of former service men on account of the special provision of lapsed War Term Insurance which authorized reinstatement up to December 31, 1919, regardless of date of discharge, announcement is made by Director R. G. Cholmeley-Jones of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance that the provisions for reinstatement of lapsed or canceled insurance, within 18 months from date of discharge, upon payment of only two months' premiums on the amount of insurance to be reinstated, provided the insured is in as good health as at the date of discharge or expiration of the grace period whichever is the later date, and so states in his application, still hold good.

The provision that discharged service men are permitted to reinstate at any time within three calendar months following the month of discharge by merely paying the two months' premiums, without making a formal application or a statement as to health is also still in force.

The provisions for reinstatement do not protect a man until he actually reinstates. If he waits he may not be in as good health as he was at the time of discharge and consequently may not be able to secure reinstatement.

Don't put off reinstatement. Do it now!

Why take nasty cathartics, sickening salts, or stomach-turning oils to drive these rascals out. Let gentle, harmless Cascarts remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, your sinewy, your breath offensive, and your stomach sour. Get a box of Cascarts at the drug store and rid your liver, stomach, and bowels of the excess bile, poisons, and waste which are keeping you miserable. INCOME TAX RETURNS DUE

MARCH 15 LAST FILING DATE.

Net incomes of $1,000 or over, if single; or $2,000 or over if married, must be reported.

The Income Tax imposed by Act of Congress on earnings of the year 1919 is now being collected.

Returns under oath must be made on or before March 15 by every citizen and resident who had a net income for 1919 amounting to:

$1,000 or over, if single; or if married and living apart from wife (or husband); or if widowed or divorced.

$2,000 or over, if married and living with wife (or husband).

The status of the person on the last day of the year fixes the status for the year with respect to the above requirements.

Under any of these circumstances a return must be made, even though no tax is due.

Husband and wife must consider the income of both, plus that of dependent minor children, in meeting this requirement; and, if sufficient to require a return, all items must be shown in a joint return or in separate returns of husband and wife.

A single person with minor dependents must include the income of such dependents.

A minor who has a net income of $1,000 or more is not considered a dependent, and must file a separate return.

Personal returns should be made on Form 1040A, unless the net income exceeded $5,000, in which case Form 1040 should be used.

Residents of Kentucky should file their returns with, and make payments of Income Tax to, Elwood Hamilton, Collector of Internal Revenue, Louisville.

How to Figure Income.

The best way to find out whether one must file a return is to get a Form 1040A and follow the instructions printed on it. That form will serve as a reminder of every item of income, and if a return is due it tells how to prepare and file it.

If in doubt on any point as to income or deductions, a person may secure free advice and aid from the nearest Internal Revenue office.

Guesswork, estimates and other hit-or-miss methods are barred when a person is making out his Income Tax return. Accuracy and completeness must be insisted upon. The return is a sworn statement. As such it must be thorough and accurate.

Salaried persons and wage earners must ascertain the actual compensation received. Overtime, bonuses, shares in the profits of a business, value of quarters and board furnished by the employer and other items which are compensations for services must be included.

It must be borne in mind that compensation may be paid in other forms than in cash. A bonus paid in Liberty Bonds is taxable at the market value of the bonds. A note received in payment for services is taxable income at its face value, and the interest upon it is also taxable.

Other Returns Due.

Every partnership doing business in the United States must file a return on Form 1065; and every personal service corporation must file a similar return.

Trustees, executors, administrators and others acting in a fiduciary capacity are required to file returns. In some cases, Form 1041 is used; in others, Form 1040; and still others, returns on both forms are required.

Information returns, on Forms 1099 and 1096, must be filed by every organization, firm or person who paid, during 1919, an amount of $1,000 in salary, wages, interest, rent, or other fixed or determinable income to another person, partnership, personal service corporation or fiduciary. These information returns should be forwarded directly to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue (posting division), Washington, D. C.

INCOME TAX IN NUTSHELL

WHO—Single persons who had net income of $1,000 or more for the year 1919.

Married couples who had net income of $2,000 or more.

WHEN—March 15, 1920, is final date for filing returns and making first payments.

WHERE—Collector of Internal Revenue for District in which the person resides.

HOW—Full directions on Form 1040A and Form 1040; also the law and regulations.

WHAT—Four per cent normal tax on taxable income up to $4,000 in excess of exemption. Eight per cent normal tax on balance of taxable income. Surtax, from one per cent to sixty-five per cent on net incomes over $5,000.

A WOMAN'S BACK

The Advice of This Louisville Woman is of Certain Value.

Many a woman's back has many aches and pains. Ofttimes 'tis the kidneys' fault.

That's why Doan's Kidney Pills are so effective. Ask your neighbor!

Many Louisville women know this. Read what one has to say about it.

Miss Leah Smith, Franklin Street, Louisville, says: "I was led to take Doan's Kidney Pills, because others in the family had been greatly benefited by them. I used them for attacks of backache, which came on after a cold settled on my kidneys or after I had over exerted at my housework. Doan's Kidney Pills strengthened my back and took all the pains away. At any sign of a return of backache, I always get Doan's Kidney Pills at the Louisville Drug Co., and they have never failed to benefit me."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Miss Smith had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs. Buffalo, N. Y.

A big lumber company operating 11 large mills in the west, has announced a cut of 10 to 30 per cent in prices of lumber, effective at once and lasting at least until June 1st.

The wet majority in Ohio is about to evaporate. The recount now going on has reduced the majority of 479 to 133 and the good work is still going on.

The Kentucky Legislature is considering a bill taxing gasoline at 2 cents per gallon. This is excessive and should not be done. Not more than one-fourth of that amount of tax should be put upon this product.

Lawrence is the only county in Kentucky marketing any considerable amount of oil from the famous Berea Grit. It is a high grade oil which commands the price of "Pennsylvania grade" in West Virginia and Pennsylvania. With the market wide open and the independent refineries cut out of a share of the Standard's purchases it is believed this field will be able soon to market its Berea oil at Pennsylvania prices. The scarcity of this high grade oil is what forced the Joseph Seppi purchasing agency to stop selling to the independents.

Soldiers and machine gun equipment are at the Eddyville penitentiary guard that impregnable pile for the sake of the negro fiend Lockett, over whom six white men lost their lives at Lexington two weeks ago. This is another mistake—a needless expense added to the thousands of dollars cost already incurred as a result of the bad judgment used in handling this case. The Eddyville prison is a modern structure, built on a hill, with walls of massive stone that no Lexington mob could scale or penetrate. Furthermore, Eddyville is so inaccessible that the ranks of any mob moving from central Kentucky would be so depleted enroute that a "corporal's guard" would not survive to reach there. This is working the tragedy into a farce.

The railroads will go back to the owners next Monday. The tyrannical unions bluffed Congress into eliminating the provision of the new railroad law prohibiting railroad strikes, but they are not any nearer being satisfied than before. A strike is threatened. If they have any judgment at all they will let the strike sentiment rest a year or two. The people are in no humor to submit to the outrageous demands continually being made by these disturbers, who are the best paid men in the world for the returns they give. The great common people can force the enactment of an anti-strike law for railroads, and Congress knows the people are just about ready to put the pressure on that will bring it to pass. No bunch of men have any right, or ought to have the power to starve and freeze the entire population, or to wreck the business of the country. The railroads must be kept running.

Work every day and save every dollar possible—this is the only wise rule to follow now while work is plentiful and wages high. We shall wake up one of these fine mornings and find the present great opportunity of the past. Now is the time to keep busy and lay up dollars that will be worth twice as much later on.

PETROLEUM THE MASTER

I am Power. I drive the locomotive over mountain and desert. The swift automobile is my chariot. I soar in the clouds wherever men dare ride the dizzy aeroplane or the majestic floating airship. The stealthy submarine and the stately liner go their way by my permission. I whirl the spindles in a thousand mills and you can hear me roar in a multitude of foundries. My strength never lags. Peak loads are a joy to me. I am Speed. Whenever men would go quickly, I take them.

I am Light. Without me the lamp would be unlit, the dynamo would not drag electrons from the air, nor any wheel or moving thing do its work softly—for I am also Lubrication and Silence.

I am Efficiency. Men do their tasks gladly and better when I am their fellow, for I am clean and sweet in all my work. The steam leaps stronger from the water at my touch, and the engine speeds with absolute certainty when my hot breath drives the shaft.

I am Economy, for I am the spirit of concentrated energy.

I am Safety. By my use accidents are prevented. I cheer the land with a myriad of useful flames and navigate the storm with untrembling keels.

I am Terror, for I alone am master of the submarine.

I am the husband of Necessity, since Necessity is the mother of invention; for I am father of all Machinery.

I am the grandfather of Electricity.

I am Profit in business. I am Success.

I am the Fuel of Civilization.

I am Preparedness.

Aladdin's Lamp is not a fairy tale—I am the genie of the Lamp.

I AM PETROLEUM.

COLBY APPOINTED
SECRETARY OF STATE

Washington—President Wilson again upset the expectations of official and political Washington today by naming Bainbridge Colby, a New York attorney, who left the Republican party with Theodore Roosevelt in 1912, as secretary of state.

Mr. Colby has been engaged in law practice in New York since 1892 except for the nineteen months he was a shipping board member. During the latter service he was an American representative in the inter-allied shipping conference at Paris and was active in directing the board's war policy. In 1912 and 1916 he was the Progressive candidate for senator from New York. In the 1916 campaign, however, he supported actively the campaign of President Wilson for re-election.

The condition of Irene, S. J. Preece's daughter, who has been critically ill at the home of M. H. Johns shows slight improvement. Miss Dora Johns is also very sick.

BOOST

Boost your city, boost your friend, Boost the lodge that you attend.

Boost the street on which you're dwelling.

Boost the goods that you are selling, Boost the people 'round about you,

They can't get along without you.

But success will quicker find them, if they know that you're behind them.

Boost for every forward movement,

Boost for the man for whom you labor,

Boost the stranger and the neighbor,

Cease to be a chronic knocker,

Cease to be a progress blocker,

If you'd make your city better,

Boost it to the final letter.

Carrying a Ton a Mile for less than a Cent

Freight rates have played a very small part in the rising cost of living.

Other causes—the waste of war, under-production, credit inflation—have added dollars to the cost of the necessities of life, while freight charges have added only cents.

The average charge for hauling a ton of freight a mile is less than a cent.

A suit of clothing that sold for $30 before the war was carried 2,265 miles by rail from Chicago to Los Angeles for 16½ cents.

Now the freight charge is 22 cents and the suit sells for $50.

The cost of the suit has increased 20 dollars.

The freight on it has increased only 5½ cents.

Other transportation charges enter into the cost of the finished article—carrying the wool to the mills and the cloth to the tailors—but these other charges amount to but a few cents more.

The $10 pair of shoes that used to sell for $5 goes from the New England factory to the Florida dealer for a freight charge of 5½ cents—only one cent more than the pre-war rate.

GLAD TO TESTIFY

Says Watoga Lady, "As To What Cardui Has Done For Me, So As To Help Others."

Watoga, W. Va.—Mrs. S. W. Gladwell, of this town, says: "When about 15 years of age, I suffered greatly... Sometimes would go a month or two, and I had terrible headache, backache, and bearing-down pains, and would just drag and had no appetite. Then... it would last... two weeks, and was so weakening, and my health was awful.

My mother bought me a bottle of Cardui, and I began to improve after taking the first bottle, so kept it up till I took three... I gained, and was well and strong, and I owe it all to Cardui.

I am married now and have 3 children... Have never had to have a doctor for female trouble, and just resort to Cardui if I need a tonic. I am glad to testify to what it has done for me, so as to help others."

If you are nervous or weak, have headaches, backaches, or any of the other ailments so common to women, why not give Cardui a trial? Recommended by many physicians. In use over 40 years. Begin taking Cardui today. It may be the very medicine you need.

INFLUENZA AND WEAK BLOOD

Run Down and Listless Condition May Make You a Target for the "Flu."

Because Blood is Probably Thin.

AT THIS TIME OF DANGER, TAKE PEPTO-MANGAN—IT BUILDS RICH, RED BLOOD.

No matter how well you usually are, if temporarily you're run down, you're a target for the influenza.

Contagion always gets listless people first. Whether they realize it or not, their blood is thin and undernourished—in no condition to fight off the germs it meets everywhere.

It is a wise precaution to take a good tonic at this time of danger—some well-known builder of red, vigorous blood, like Pepto-Mangan.

And if you did not think of this in time—if you are now recovering from a fight with influenza—your blood will need help for weeks after you think the danger is past.

Take no unnecessary chances. Get Pepto-Mangan and start taking it today. Pepto-Mangan is an effective blood builder that has had the endorsement of physicians for years.

Pepto-Mangan is sold by druggists in either liquid or tablet form, just as preferred. There is no difference in medicinal value. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan. Ask for Gude's Pepto-Mangan and be sure the name is on the package. (Adv.)

SOUND BUSINESS BASIS FOR CHURCH

Interchurch World Movement
Natural Growth Of Tendency
To Eliminate Waste

AVOIDS USELESS COMPETITION

Religious Financing Revolutionized
By Success Of Men And Millions
Movement And Co-operation
Is Result

The Interchurch World Movement of North America is an attempt by forward-looking leaders of the various evangelical denominations of the United States and Canada to co-ordinate the resources in men, money and material for Protestant America.

Historically it is the logical outgrowth of a tendency of the national boards in each denomination to form working alliances among themselves, in which each board shall preserve its identity and control its own personnel and treasury.

In former times, the home mission society, the foreign mission society, the church extension society and the various philanthropic and eleemosynary agencies of any denomination conducted their affairs independently of one another. Each surveyed its own restricted territory, prepared a budget of money and workers for its own purposes and made its own appeal to its constituency for support.

This could only mean that these agencies were more or less in competition with one another; that there were waste and duplication of work and money, and that among them all some work was neglected and some denominational resources were entirely overlooked. Because of their specialized training, the leaders of each agency regarded themselves as peculiarly fitted for their tasks, and jealousy regarded attempts at outside interference.

Decide On Experiment

After decades of such haphazard methods, the leaders of one denomination decided on an experiment. They thought it would be possible for the agencies to get together for a common study of all the opportunities and resources of their brotherhood, to make out a unified budget of men and money, and to conduct a concerted appeal for funds. It was made clear that each constituent board should preserve complete autonomy.

When the board representatives met they found it possible to eliminate a great amount of organization expense. They ultimately worked out a budget and plan of campaign that was satisfactory to all. This resulted in the famous "Men and Millions Movement" of the Disciples of Christ, which brought in what was then considered the staggering sum of $6,300,000 for a five-year program. The members of the communion were so pleased with this business-like method of conducting affairs that they contributed even more generously than had been expected.

The success of this enterprise revolutionized the whole business of church financing. The other great denominations immediately adopted the plan. The denominational associations have come to be known as "forward movements," and some thirty of them are in existence today. Each one has clarified all the information in relation to enterprise within the denomination, and has reduced the business of collecting and spending money to a science.

World Budget Formed

The Interchurch World Movement is simply a plan to do interdenominationally what the forward movements have done within the various communions. It means that every denominational budget will be made in the light of world needs instead of in the semi-obscenity of incomplete information. It means that contributions to one denomination will not be in wasteful competition with contributions to another, because all the fellowships will have worked out their program together.

The functions of the Interchurch World Movement are threefold. First, it collects, by means of world surveys, all the pertinent facts on which denominational programs may be built. Second, it sets up the practical machinery of co-operation. Third, it acts in an advisory capacity whenever its advice is requested.

The Movement has nothing to do with organic church union or matters of creed or doctrine. Each constituent preserves complete autonomy, and is bound only so far as it wishes to be bound. Financial appeals are made by each denomination to its own constituency. Any surplus in undesignated funds, over and above the actual cost of administration, will be prorated among the denominations engaged in a given financial undertaking.

An illustration of one thing the Movement can do is to be found in a western community of 1,600 persons in which thirteen denominations have been supporting separate churches with missionary funds, while an adjacent territory of 50,000 persons has only three churches. By seeing that all missionary boards are supplied with information in such cases, the Movement will make possible a wiser distribution of funds.

Its first goals are to reduce unnecessary duplication and overlapping to a minimum and to bring about an intelligent division of labor in unoccupied fields.

RURAL SURVEY OF VITAL IMPORTANCE

Religious Statistics Are Secured
From County To Be Used By Local Churches

HEARTY CO-OPERATION ASKED

Information To Be Gathered In Every Part Of The County According To Communities Will Have Large
Significance

The rural survey department of the Interchurch World Movement has been organized to assemble information and analyze conditions from a religious standpoint in every county in the state, according to Arthur O. Stockbridge, Rural Survey Supervisor for the state of Kentucky, with headquarters at 102 Todd Building, Louisville, Ky.

In order for the churches of a community to carry on their work of evangelizing the territory in which they are situated and to contribute their share towards the complete evangelization of the world, which is the ideal in every Christian heart, it is necessary that the actual conditions which exist in each county be discovered. Because of the vital importance of this work, the movement is calling upon the pastors of all denominations and others who are informed relative to religious conditions to render all the assistance possible towards the completion of the work.

This information, after being tabulated by experts, is taken back to the securities, where the several Protestant denominations with churches in the county co-operatively study it and decide on the county's church needs.

Recommendations are made by the county churches of each denomination that so desires, to the denominational home mission, Sunday school and other boards so that these boards can co-operate intelligently and effectively with the local county church organizations.

The Interchurch World Movement is attempting to do its work on a democratic basis. It is neither dictating nor attempting to dictate to any church or denomination what shall be done. The denominations in each county must decide unanimously among themselves on any joint county program for church betterment before it is adopted or undertaken with the co-operation of the Interchurch World Movement. The survey department is designed to help build up and meet the needs of the local churches through the local and county denominational interests.

An Interchurch World Movement survey of a county develops facts as to the county's geographical location and the general character of its agricultural, commercial and industrial life, its road system and means of intercommunication, public school system and other educational institutions, welfare and benevolent institutions, other organizations and individuals engaged in public service for the entire county.

Accompanying a general survey of a county is a more detailed survey of each community, a community being regarded as a unit of territory and population characterized by common economic and social interests.

The community survey designates the outline and location of the community on information acquired from storekeepers, bankers and other informed persons. Territory not definitely included within the limits of any trade community is considered in connection with the communities to which it is contiguous and to which it is most closely related. Thus no area is omitted in the enumeration of population and other statistical information. The survey takes account of the community's economic conditions, such as natural resources, chief sources of income, soil, climate and market conditions, relations of farmers and business men, industrial data, etc. The social life and organizations of the community are covered in detail, together with other information to throw light on the state of the social mind.

The third link in the survey chain is the survey of each church in each community. This sets out the location, denomination, minister, date of organization, descriptive data as to buildings and equipment, membership, regular and special meetings and tabulated results therefrom, statistics as to area covered by the parish, number of families reached, parish problems and other data to give a comprehensive vision of the parish, and supplemented by information as to the program of work outlined for the church by the pastor and the official boards.

The triple surveys—county, community and church—assemble all information that may be needed to aid the individual churches and denominations in working out their present problems and future programs of development, so that wasted effort may be eliminated and unproductive activities of each denomination may be transferred to productive fields.

The need of such a systematic study of church conditions is apparent by the results of investigation already made in some sections of the South, if the churches are to accomplish the greatest possible amount of good. The conditions found to exist in some quarters are rather startling. In one county in the South, for instance, there are 44 churches, of which 14 are dead and only 16 of which maintain Sunday schools.

CHURCH NEWS AND OTHER MATTERS OF RELIGIOUS NATURE

Class Rule Is Menace.

Nashville, Tenn., February 18.—Calling for the application of Christianity to the problems of the day as the only means of insuring their solution, Charles W. Dabney, President of the University of Cincinnati, today addressed the student body and faculty of George Peabody College for Teachers, on the occasion of the observation of Funders' Day at the institution. He spoke on "The Principles of Americanism."

"Bolshevism seeks to make a cleavage through all the world, with workers the tyrants," said Dr. Dabney. "We thought we had made men everywhere free when we arranged ourselves about the peace table, but now the rule of the classes is terrorizing the world. Through it we may lose all that the war has gained for us."

"We still have democracy in America, and we must see to it that we continue to have it. But the germ of a dire disease is threatening us. How can we prevent its growth? By getting the country back to the old-style family and community where God was revered and obeyed."

"True democracy is applied Christianity, teaching men to love their neighbors and to follow the Golden Rule. Americanism stands for our whole scheme of life, as well as for the Government. Society is not merely a collection of individuals and their relationship. It has a spiritual and a physical basis, and its customs, art, philosophy and religion are inseparable from its life."

"The home is the chief agent for the development of democracy. Homes, churches, schools and communities must work hand in hand for this end. The world cannot be recreated through legislation nor through economic revolution. What we need is a new social vitality which is the product of good will and of love of God."

"It is the children who renew the race, and their training in the right direction should be our first concern. Americanism must be taught in the schools and the old American family must be restored."

A bill was passed at the last session of the legislature of Alabama requiring the daily reading of the Bible in the public schools of the State. The law went into effect February 11.

Violent exclamations against the selfishness of one's neighbors because they will not give way to our convenience when we are wholly oblivious to our own selfishness in making such unreasonable demands. — Pittsburgh Christian Advocate.

BOY WANTED FOR MURDER IN MINGO

HISTORY REPEATING IN USUAL WAY

Local police have been asked by Sheriff Blankenship of Mingo-co., to assist in the search for a 17 year old youth wanted in that county for the murder of Sherman Conn, who was killed on Monday by a 17 year old son of Charles Crockett, a contractor who is at present completing a job at Breeden, W. Va. Conn was employed by Crockett previous to his death.

Sheriff Blankenship of Williamson said that the affair was the result of a quarrel over a girl and that during the quarrel, the young man drew a revolver and shot Conn thru the lungs. Conn died a short time later.

It is stated that Conn and an older brother of the boy wanted for murder were in love with the same girl at Breeden. The quarrel had progressed to such a stage that an open warfare was imminent. The two Crockett boys went to the home of Conn and called the latter from his home. The older brother accused Conn of interfering in his courtship. Conn, who is a boxer, proposed a fight to the finish. Crockett acceded. The contractor's son was knocked down and as Conn turned toward the younger brother, Crockett pulled a revolver and shot Conn. Then both brothers left the teamster lying on the ground. They were last seen boarding a train for Kenova.—Herald Dispatch.

"On this, the 22d of February, it may not be amiss to recall that the first President was even more maligned than the last has been, as wild as that assertion may appear."

The opponents of the adoption of the Federal Constitution denounced Washington as "a fool from nature" and Franklin as "a fool from age."

President Washington was sneered at as "sovereign, immaculate, infallible, omniscient." His negotiation of the treaty with Great Britain in 1783 brought upon him a storm of abuse and vilification. The opposition party and the press were in full cry against him. "What will posterity say of the man who has done this thing?" asked "A Calm Observer" in a New York paper. "Will it not say that the mask of political hypocrisy has been worn by Caesar, by Cromwell, and by Washington alike?" The fruits of his oath to defend "a system of republican Government that abhors the insidious machinery of royal imposture" were declared to be "the seclusion of a monk and the supercilious distance of a tyrant."

In those days it was the custom at the beginning of a session of Congress for the President to address the House in person and for that body to frame a reply. When the House met in December, 1795, a number of the members voted against making any reply to Washington at all, and when a reply was drawn up those portions were struck out referring to the "national happiness" of the country and to the "confidence" of the people in their Chief Executive.

A more pointed insult to Washington was offered by the House on the 22d of February, 1796. It had been the usage, invariably observed, for the House to adjourn for half an hour on Washington's birthday, in order that members might tender their congratulations; but this the House now flatly refused to do.

Nothing was neglected by the opponents of Washington throughout the year to show their contempt for the man and his birthday, which had been celebrated with great festivities since 1783. He was castigated as "cold" and "reserved." He carefully avoided using the word "servant" in signing his letters. He kept a coach. He never mingled with his fellows on the street or in the coffeehouse. He held no levees. What could be the meaning of bell-ringing, fireworks, balls, odes and toasts in celebration of the birthday of "the American Caesar" (ah, there Ellihu Root!) the stepfather of his country?" "the American George," who issued proclamations, made treaties and "waged war upon his fellow-citizens with all the insolence of an Emperor of Rome?"

This campaign of slander against Washington probably reached its climax in the revival of some letters alleged to have been written by him which bordered on treason, but which had been proven forgeries nearly 20 years before, when they were first concocted; in charges that he was a salary-grabber and thief, and in the detailed fabrication of a story that he had once committed murder.

None of this defamation smirches the fame of Washington today. Study his story, with the stories of his successors, notably Lincoln and Cleveland, if you would form an opinion of the shadows which it will be possible for the calumnies of 1929 to throw upon the figure of Woodrow Wilson in 2020.
